

Perry Como, Childhood Is A Meadow

Childhood is a meadow,
for angels without wings . . .
Childhood is a meadow,
of toys an' rose-covered swings . . .

With singing brooks for laughing hearts at play and a fence made of rainbows to keep every care away . . .

Childhood is a meadow,
and as the years depart,
it remains evergreen

and can only be seen
by those who are young in heart . . .

&lt; instrumental break &gt;

Childhood is a meadow,
and as the years depart,
it remains evergreen
and can only be seen
by those who are young in heart . . .
