

Perry Como, My Days Of Loving You (Anima Mia)

When pictures of my life were flashed before me,
And echoes of our love came laughing by,
A sad and lonely feeling rattled through me,
Before I knew it, I began to cry . . .

For all the simple joys I never tasted,
For people that I loved just passing through,
For moments of my time I might have wasted,
But most of all, my days of loving you . . .

My days of sunshine in a summer green meadow,
When I would lie down in the shadow of your shadow,
My days of laughter, when it all seemed brighter,
When I would hide behind the shelter of your eyes . . .

I know I'll learn to live again tomorrow (gonna miss you!)
Be happy for a while with someone new (gonna miss you!)
But nothing in my life will have more meaning,
More magic than my days of loving you . . .

My days of sunshine in a summer green meadow,
When I would lie down in the shadow of your shadow,
My days of laughter, when it all seemed brighter,
When I would hide behind the shelter of your eyes . . .
