

Pestilence, Commandments

Forced isolation in centuries of disgust
Disease of the soul, living lives which rae lost Muddled identities, living out days
Scaring it`s victims, a formless face
Respiratory skin eruptions
With protrudes eyes they see How facial features are rotting away
Mutilating, endlessly
Trapped, seperated from humanity
Epidemic, fatal destiny
A foul oudor from gangrenous parts Incurable sick they`ll be Pain and suffering will stay Bodies slowly will decay
Unable tp provide curative treatment
Sudden death, morbidity
High, raise plague mortality Corpses putrify horribly territories in drearyness Neglected fields in what you see people escaped
this unpredictable reality
Loss of men accelerates laicization of society
Extiraple indiscriminately Bodies of the dead decayed where they had breathed last Filled with fear, death is near belonging to the past
Thousands of man put away in isolation
Suffered from the chronic infection