Pestilence, Spheres

Paved roads of deceit Leading to all life's directions So many went ahead Self-denial at their horizons Reaching out for all that's there to achieve Despite your being and what you believe Weakening of the truthful being On the rise of a personality Within your own creation of lies soon you'll be In search of your entity Beterayed by who you would like to be A journey with your mind Seeking traces you left behind Eye-sights replaced by views driven by human desire Fulfillment of your dreams have made you a liar Soul search