Pet Shop Boys, Love Is A Catastrophe

Love is a catastrophe Look what it's done to me Brought me down here so low stranded, nowhere to go

No concentration just rerunning conversation Trying to understand how I fell into this quicksand

What happens next?
With life I'm unimpressed
Pain like a cutter's knife
Never been lonelier in my life

Who issued the instruction for this mad act of destruction? An end to equilibrium Fate laughs:
Look what we've done to him!

High wind through the trees Falling November leaves A weak sun hanging low Summer seems so long ago

All my former dreams tender romantic schemes revealed as so naive To think I could believe

In love as the kindest law not as a declaration of war on my life and sanity Now I know at last for me love is a catastrophe
