

Peter Cetera, Body Language (There In The Dark)

Moment by moment, day after day
Trying your best to forget
It's all behind you, it's part of the past
You've got no time for regrets
Time to start over with somebody new
You've got nothing more to lose
Out for the evening, dressed for the kill
Leaving your troubles behind
Dangerous places, dangerous times
Leave with the first one you find
Live for the moment, who cares if it's right
Who needs tomorrow, you've got tonight

There in the dark, under covers of love
Body language is taking you somewhere you shouldn't go
First name the last thing that you need to know

In the morning you're out on the street
Now's not the time for regrets
Some things are done for the thrill of it all
Some things you'll never forget
Live for the moment, who cares if it's right
Who needs tomorrow when you've got tonight

There in the dark, under covers of love
Body language is taking you somewhere you shouldn't go
First name the last thing that you need to know
