

Peter Koppes, Two in a Million

Hey there's something that's rare to find
When all falls together and nothing's timed
Under a spell with the power of song
When I'm with you, I can do no wrong

We're two in a million

The gods gave us more than we could ask in prayer
And all because we had some time to spare
Searching was fine but it didn't hit this height
The difference was clear at the end of the night
