

PG Roxette, The Loneliest Girl In The World

I once was the chosen lucky one
Born under the sun and the powers he's got

I once was a weirdo on a bus
Thinking about us
About me, about you, he-hey

It feels like I've been climbing over mountains
Like I've been riding jumping diving
Just to find out where you might be hiding
The loneliest girl in the world, uh huh

I recall (call call) shadows being tall
Kissing by the wall oh I felt so secure

I recall wishing we could be
The breeze across the trees
Just for fun being like one

It feels like I've been climbing over mountains
Like I've been riding jumping diving
Just to find out where you might be hiding
The loneliest girl in the world

It feels like I've been flying over treetops
Like I've been scanning all my teardrops
Just to find out where you might be full stop
The loneliest girl in the world

It feels like I've been climbing over mountains
Like I've been driving all the highways
Just to find out where on earth you might stay
The loneliest girl in the world

It feels like I've been rushing through the moonlight
Like I've been searching every website
Just to find out where you might be tonight
The loneliest girl in the world, oh yea

The loneliest girl in the world aaaaahh
Feels like I've been running jumping diving
Just to find out where you might be hiding
Why is there no song playing
For the loneliest girl in the world?
