

Phantom/Ghost, Thank God It's Judgement Day

it's judgement day

good morning fellow mutants my instinct says that we are done and though I wished I'd never met you I miss you all when you are gone

I know I've always been quite severe but even though you might not have noticed I loved you all so very dear

And I don't find you guilty of the things you accuse yourself of no I don't find you guilty

it's judgement day
it's judgement day

thank god it's judgement day all the things that led us astray are either obsolete, vanished or awkward you're all and the audience is backwards turns forwards what goes around comes around and it comes to everyone everybody get ready to meet their maker when that day is done

you are forgiven
you are forgiven

thank god it's judgement day
thank god
