

Phil Collins, Please Come Out Tonight

'...When all is said and done, there's just you and me.'

Please come out tonight I need you here it's been a long, long time and I can't wait let's find out, let's see what it's like out there if it rains we'll find somewhere, somewhere dry and warm

You'll say "my, it's been a long, long time" I'll say "how are you? I've been fine"

Please come out tonight, let's go out and see the world we can try to find, find somewhere it seems so long ago, I can hardly remember the time it's all I want, it's all I want, so let's see what we find

You'll say "there's so much you need to know" I'll say "are you really sure you have to go?"

We don't need a reason, no explanations just stay with me here, tonight
I won't say a word
I just need you here

Please come out tonight, let's go out and find ourselves you can lean your head on my shoulder, remember?

You'll say "My, is that the time?"
I'll say "why not stay with me tonight?"

We don't need a reason it's so warm inside
there's no one between us if someone comes we can hide just lay here beside me just see what it's like
