Phil Collins, Through My Eyes

Thru My Eyes

It's never where you think you'll find it The thing you think you're looking for It could take you all your lifetime And still you'd never quite be sure

You could look everywhere Because you know it's there Soemwhere beneath the sky But too closely and you'll get burned There's no lesson learned Yet some people pass it by

You'll see the things different when you look thru my eyes Things are different if you see what I see Just look closely and you'll see thru my eyes It could be different, you'll see how it could be, If you can see

You may need help to find your way home Those who brought you here have flown The road you take is full of hope or sadness The choice you make will be your own

But you're not alone in there Just say hello in there Cos there are many just like you They'll help you find someway To make it all the way They'll tell you all you have to do

You'll see the things different when you look thru my eyes Things are different if you see what I see Just look closely and you'll see thru my eyes It could be different, you'll see how it could be, If you can see

No one warns you of the heartache No one can hide you from the storm But from the shadows there will come the sunshine A place to dry and keep you warm

Though no one tells you how Your heart's beating faster now Getting stronger day by day

Suddenly it's clear, what you seek is near It's what you learn along the way

It's never where you think you'll find it The thing you think you're looking for Well it could take you all your lifetime Still you'll never quite be sure You'll find it, just look closer
