

Phil Ochs, Heres To The State Of Richard Nixon

I Ain't Marching Anymore

Phil Ochs

Written by Phil Ochs and Bob Gibson

Oh, I marched to the battle of New Orleans

At the end of the early British war

The young land started growin'

The young blood started flowin'

But I ain't a-marchin' anymore

But I've killed my share of Injuns

In a thousand different fights

I was there at the Little Big Horn

I saw many men lyin'

I saw many more dyin'

But I ain't a-marchin' anymore
