Phosphorescent, The Waves At Night

Where are we and where do we And where will we finally Trade our teeth for rays for wheat To lay and sleep underneath

O love too eager to cross O love we meet and you pause O love too eager to cross You see what you've lost?

The crazy streets, amazing grief The taste of sweet offerings The blazing heat, the naked beasts Great barrier reefs, all for thee

O love too eager to cross
O love we meet and you pause
O love too eager to cross
You see what you've lost?

The waves at night all brave and bright The dance hall lights, o all your life To lay and weep, to trade our teeth To aim and achieve grace and peace
