

Pillar, Everything

Can't you feel that there is something
That is burning up inside
I don't know what it means
But there's something that I ain't tried
It feels like me against the nations
And it's something I can't hide
I don't care if you believe me
'Cause its burning me alive
I tell you

Nothing comes that easy
Nothing comes for free
Something comes from nothing
If you're willing to believe
Everything has meaning
Everything we see
Are you willing
To give up everything

You don't need a revelation
To open up your mind
Break down all your reasons
Leave them all behind
Cause it takes faith for moving mountains
And strength to walk the line
Your apology accepted
And there's nothing you can hide
Believe me

Time will tell
