

PinkPantheress, Where you are (ft. WILLOW)

I suffer in silence I still don't know why I guess, I'm built for another.
A flower I'm growing wilted today I chose it, to leave you tonight.
You don't want it do you?

Ahhhhhh - ahhhhh

I don't know what to do, I wish that I never met you, no.
(I know this feeling well, I wish I could tell)

This last year I've been through, several feelings that you, didn't once let me choose.
(you turned on me)
I now look back when we yelled, it's reminiscent I held the hope to find someone else.

So please tell me where you are
Now my life's a downward spiral, got my broken heart recycled.
Please tell me where are
I've lost sight of what to do, don't spend one day in my shoes now,
Tell me where you are.
You tell me it will be okay but I know we will never be the same.
I know that I can't work with maybe's, please tell me that you want to meet again.

Never thought I'd wanna just jump right out my head
Never really thought I'd ever question what you said, in my bed, in my room, I can't forget.
So many hopes, so many dreams, no it isn't what it fucking seems.

I don't know what to do, I wish that I never met you, no.
I don't know what to do, I wish that I never met you, no.

So please tell me where you are
Now my life's a downward spiral, got my broken heart recycled.
Please tell me where are
I've lost sight of what to do, don't spend one day in my shoes now,
Tell me where you are.
You tell me it will be okay but I know we will never be the same.
I know that I can't work with maybe's, please tell me that you want to meet again.