

Places To Park, Ascension the distance seems much further than the space between it turns out that it's all within this short arm reach it was just waiting for the time, it was just waiting for this time and I know all that it takes is just one step more I can see it clearly right in front of me I'll step forward, reach out and take control my blurry vision has cleared into focus now I can see right through all these faded lies

it was just waiting for the time, it was just waiting for this time