

Plain White T's, Feeling (more Like) Myself

S-s-s-summer's almost gone
F-f-f-fall is on its way
Saw your face in the shape of a daydream
Thought you'd never look my way

And it's gonna be a good day today
Take my heart, take my blues all away
So many songs that you make me wanna write
When you show up in the middle of the night

I feel a little bit more like myself, yeah
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time, oh
I feel a little bit more like myself, yeah
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time

P-p-p-paint you on my walls
S-s-s-see you everyday
Saw your face in the shape of a daydream
Thought you'd never look my way

And it's gonna be a good day today
Take my heart, take my blues all away
So many songs that you make me wanna write
When you show up in the middle of the night

I feel a little bit more like myself, yeah
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time, oh
I feel a little bit more like myself, yeah
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time

And when the music's way too loud
Then I know it's gonna be a good day
Yeah, I know it's gonna be a good day

I feel a little bit more like myself
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time, oh
I feel a little bit more like myself, yeah
I feel a little bit more like myself
Than I have in a long time
Than I have in a long time

Yeah, than I have in a long time
Yeah, than I have in a long time
Been a long, been a long fucking time