

Plankeye, Say Now That You're Sorry say now, that you're sorry i forgive you i promise to restore now, the order that we once had before this all came down now it's so useless we're wasting the members that we've been given i miss you even when i'm with you drifting away don't drift away now together we are stronger can't see hope but it lasts longer than thorns on trees and words that sting faithful are the wounds he brings don't let the sun go down on...

rest your seet head lay down, now you are my best friend and i'll be here when you rise to part the seas that frighten your mind doubt comes all the time if you cry i'll cry i'll be here when you wonder why
