

Plans For Revenge, Sunrise

I fell away with a torch and match and a knife in the wake of your words so loud in the light cover your mouth... cover your eyes hold your breath and let it go with arms raised to the sky I've watched you die and now it's too late in light of the mentioned sunrise and I can't let you out of my sight

I've passed up the trees and I'll climb to the sky I've got your blood on my sleeves and I'm holding the knife it's too late: it's over now