

Plants And Animals, Bye Bye Bye

What's gonna happen to you?
You have woke up too soon and found the world rearranged.
And now your feelings have changed.

Say goodbye to before.
"Bye, bye, bye."
You are not welcome anymore.

The door's been shown to you.
"Bye, bye, bye."
But only if you go through.

You run into the night.
No sound, no vision, no sight.
And no words to explain, just smell; tints of change.

Whats gonna happen to you?
"Bye, bye, bye."
You have woke up to soon.
And the world is rearranged.
And now your feelings have changed.

Oh, today I saw a shadow.
And I had the feeling there would be another.
One in the wintertime and one in the summer.

"Bye, bye, bye."

When the river was still, we would not help ourselves.
It's very easy to do.
We never needed to.
And the birds are high.
"Bye, bye, bye."
Started a fire in the forest.
Can you remember the day-
"Bye, bye, bye."
We had to separate?
And nobody knows what's tearing us apart.
Cause we're part of one another.
A son and a father, a mother and a brother.
When the river was still.
"Bye, bye, bye."
We would not help ourselves.
"Bye, bye, bye."
It's very easy to do.
We never needed to.

Oh, today I saw a flower.
And I had the feeling there would be another.
One in the wintertime and one in the summer.

Whats gonna happen to you?
What's going to happen?
What's going to happen?
What's going to happen?
What's going to happen to you?
You have woke up too soon.
What's going to happen to you?
You have woke up too soon.
What's going to happen to you?
You have woke up to soon.
What's going to happen to you?
"Bye, bye, bye."