

Plus/Minus, You've Just Got It All

Although you are so tongue tied Everything seems to go right
You can never fall
It's never a question of time
Everything comes around right You've just got it all

Somebody get a snapshot
A balancing act means a lot
As long as you can fall Cocktails and shots seem so right
They give so much meaning to life
You've just got it all

(you feel able, you feel stable, you feel alright)

Somebody call the m.d.
seems like a case of hiding everything that's wrong can you envision the time everything will be alright you'll just have it all

on your own
you get that chill and you pick up the phone you make a call and you hop on the train small price to pay to ignore all the pain

you can never fall, you've just got it all

on your own
you get that chill and you pick up the phone
you make a call and you hop on the train
small price to pay doesn't deal with the pain

you can never fall, you've just got it all.
