

Point Of Recognition, Subverting The Innocent

how does it feel, when you look in their eyes.
betraying their trust, subverting their innocence.
you've grown so numb, to your sickened way of life.
so cold inside, so empty and so hollow.
your time will come you will give account.
their blood is on your hands, your time will come.
subverting the innocent, exploiting the pure.
subverting the innocent, ruined lives of the young and the pure.