Poison The Well, Left With Nothing

If you found love Why do i stand alone So many feelings disregarded As you walked away Did you take a second glance or a small hesitation Or was it just a lie Another period in your life Our bond never broken I'll always care Your face impounded In my memory Although my insignificance is great Your lack of innocence is my reminder As emptiness Fulfills my soul (chorus) Now you've gone away And i'm all alone The first for so many things So many secrets shared And now i'm left with nothing Except the scars I bear I can still see The look upon your face As you walked Forever out of my life Remnants of you An everyday reminder As I pick up the pieces of my broken heart (chorus)
