

Poison The Well, Parks And What You Ment To Me

Wrap around the white pavement feels so inviting so lie back and gain bruises with me it's been a long time since I've seen you from above your still beautiful leave here we'll start something new in our embrace with that crash your parts into mine intoxicate me with your many voices and I'll never leave you I'll never leave here so lost inside of you till now I think we waited so long lock your doors and close your shades I'll never find