

Polaris At Noon, Misfire

There are words that I've always wished I could say
There are times that I've found that I've fallen away
You tell me that you need me
Then you always push me away
You tell me that you need me
Then you always push me away

I've given you my best shot
When you let me down it's so routine
I'm giving you a last shot
To let me know

Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now (Come on now)
You're unpredictable and you've got me in your spell
Come on now (Come on now)
You're a canon ready to misfire

From your silence I judge that you've had it with me
You're moving on but your motives are always so gray

'Cause you tell me that you need me then you always push me away
Yeah you tell me that you need me then you always push me away

I've given you my best shot
When you let me down it's so routine
I'm giving you a last shot
To let me know

Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now (Come on now)
You're unpredictable and you've got me in your spell
Come on now (Come on now)
Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now (Come on now)
You're unpredictable and you've got me in your spell
Come on now (Come on now)
You're a canon ready to misfire

Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now, come on now
You're unpredictable and you've got me in your spell
Come on now, come on now

Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now (Come on now)
You're unpredictable and you've got me in your spell
Come on now (Come on now)
Tell me what you need
'Cause I'm fighting your disease
Come on now (Come on now)
You're a canon ready to misfire