

Polaris At Noon, Our Symphonies

This town I grew to love then hate
Provides me nightly with these empty streets
And the signs I need
And even though everyone's gone
They always come back when the seasons come around

From different corners of the world
We're going separate ways as we all find our own design
But in the greater scheme of things
We have the same blood and we won't forget

Wait for me
We're all going alone but now I've come to see
That we're conducting different symphonies
And there's hope in our sound
So don't let me down
Yeah don't let me down, don't let me down

The seconds turn to days and years
The photos document the days we've spent
With childish intent
And all the times I've looked away
In fear that memories will start to fade away

'Cause we all want something that is real
We are all dying just to feel
So promise me one thing
That you'll never forget everything we've done together

Wait for me
We're all going alone but now I've come to see
That we're conducting different symphonies
And there's hope in our sound
So don't let me down

This town I grew to love then hate
Provides me nightly with these empty streets
From different corners of the world
We're going separate ways as we all find our own design

Wait for me
We're all going alone but now I've come to see
That we're conducting different symphonies
And there's hope in our sound
So don't let me down
Yeah don't let me down
