

Poor Old Lu, Hope For Always

Perhaps our song with the highest "twang factor", Hope For Always was consistently a

I'm not entirely sure that I understand every line in this song, to be perfectly honest. There is a pictu when 'all is mine' is over would You have the time, my friend to push me up and over hold me till the glory end, and when my pain is sober would You have the mind to send hope for always ever hold me - this wicked man and

me, with pain and all
might take the fall
yet grow so tall

and creeping like a wonder is the fear that drives me mad "that all is going under, all is always ever sad" and throwing winter summer and breezing me to my greed but give me hope for always 'all' is falling on my knees and

You, with love and truth will make us new
and will hold us thru

the sins of the world wouldn't hold You though it seems each day i try please, bless me with hope for always that i might live, might die and
