

Poor Old Lu, Slipknot

Of all the Poor Old Lu songs to show up on Napster in great number, this one did. I always found th

As the brief text in the album cover eludes, this song is directed primarily towards the topic of 'indiff

and fear
how it often seems to be all you hear like a siren that just fills up your ears will you let it show you what you hold oh, so close

and confused
i think i keep the devil amused when i believe that his lies are true but beyond the haze i know which glory remains

my need i seek
in this hope i own Majesty, i see
indifference is cold

and hate
it seems to run this world just great will they turn on time or roll in too late?
there's no turning round on our knowledge now

and pain
does it fall upon your life like rain?
it will not kill or make you insane just don't bow your neck to the cutter's blade

in this hope i hold Majesty, i see
indifference is cold

is it ever, ever all you can hear?
would you let it go and throw your arms to Christ, so close

my need i seek
indifference is cold
