

Porter Wagoner, Look What Love Has Done To Me

When you held me in your arms for the first time
I found happiness like I had never known
Right then I knew that I was one of the chosen few
That sweet love and happiness had smiled upon
And I wish you'd look look look look what love has done to me
I wish you'd look look look look what love has done to me
It's drained my heart of loneliness and filled it up with tenderness
And I wish you'd look look what love has done to me

Now our love is like a storybook romance
And each page of love returns old something new Oh it gets better with each chapter happiness for ever after
As the book of love unfolds for me and you
And I wish you'd look...
