

Porter Wagoner, Where Does Love Go

When lips grow so familiar with the one they love
And the fire that burns so high then flickers low
Where does love go where does love go
When your love is stronger than the one you love
And nothing you can do makes their love grow where does love go where does love go
Where does love go when it's dying looking for a place to survive
Where does love go when it's dying mhm tryin' in some way to stay alive
Where does love go where does love go

Is there no way to stop love when you see it dying
And so soon it will be gone you know where does love go where does love go
So you stand with helpless hands as love slips through your fingers
As you try to stop the tears that flow where does love go where does love go
Where does love go...