

Portugal. The Man, Our Way

But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way

But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
But we found that we were always lost
And we will never find our way
