Powderfinger, Good-Day Ray

He's at you again ray Testing out your head space No matter what you do The money still loves you

You have fallen down the stairs again You might have to take it easy

Because we love you And we respect you Because we love you And we respect you

You have fallen down the stairs again You might have to take it easy

He's at you again ray He's at you again ray He's at you again ray Testing out your head space