

Powerman 5000, The Future That Never Was

(Have you nothing to contribute? Have you nothing to contribute? Have you nothing to contribute to on which depends the world civilization, perhaps perhaps even our very existence?)

I know everything is never much
But the sound of the sound you heard was serious
So take back everything you ever got Cause this is the future that
That never was

Right
Thats right
(I never would have imagined it would be anything like this)
Right
(I never would have imagined it would be anything like this)

The page has turned around from what it was So maybe Ill hate you now just because
The burden is tiresome and has become
The same as the future that
That never was

Right
Thats right
(I never would have imagined it would be anything like this)
Right
(I never would have imagined it would be anything like this)

The dream that you dreamed about
It never came
Step back and look around
Now whos to blame
Your voice is weaker now
Its just a buzz
That sounds like the future that
That never was