

Pretty Maids, In The Minds Of The Young

Now tell me how to ease the pain

As I head down the road

That leads to no where

And tell me how to breathe again

How to save my soul

Won't you show me

Everytime these dark clouds appear before me

I believe it's the end of the line

Everytime these bitter tears are falling

Then I see what I've lost

I will find

In the minds of the young

There's a will to go on

'Cause they're the ones to keep this together

And our world is betrayed

Now that love's gone away

Their visions are gonna hold on forever

In the minds of the young

Now that I've been searching

Beyond these walls of thoughts

To seek my failure

All I found was just you and I

On a collision course

Against our own nature

There're so many words that are left unspoken

Are we a part pf a spiritual game

And one too many promises has been broken

But as long as our future remains

Chorus

I wish that I could fly away

On a wing and prayer

'Cause I don't wanna face the truth

I'd get down on my knees and pray

To the beauty of love

And the power of youth

Chorus
