

Primer 55, Pills

I think it's time to fade away from all the shit inside my head I go instead, to a beautiful place you know I'll find it.
I've tried so hard to stay away far away from all these days that never change and with these things that

(chorus)
make me take those pills (oh yea) amputating my emotions make me numb so I don't care keep checking my vitals still no sign of life in here let the sedation take the place of all ambition for myself there's nothing left and now and then I'll hide behind it it's in this place I try to stay far away my life has changed and everything is fading into gray

(chorus)

(bridge)
give me room so I can breath the walls keep closing in I'm feeling claustrophobic, increase the dosage so I can feel alive again don't wanna feel sober, don't wanna feel pain I really don't wanna feel the emptiness, the stress and all those things that make me take those pills
