

Profugus Mortis, The Darkest Hour

In times of darkness, fear, and pain
All seems dark, unwavering, uncharted
The war is long, the end unseen
But the darkest hour is just before dawn
(repeat)

Edure hardships as discipline meant to strengthen your heart
Stand tall and head strong
Protect your light inside it will guide your way

Be ready and waiting, this night it will not take you
Soon the dawn it comes and we'll be waiting
Be ready and waiting, this night it will not take you
Soon the dawn it comes and we'll be waiting here for you

Be ready and waiting, this night it will not take you
Soon the dawn it comes and we'll be waiting here for you
