

Progress, Akeldamach

I never asked for all of this..
My burning heart, a poisoned kiss.
We are all puppets in a play.
Yet still I'm feel like I'm astray.
The sacrifice that I've made
You asked from me in gods own name.
The final act, it has begun.
I will never see the sun.
Did this happen before my eyes?
Am I so blind?

I feel the years that we have shared.
Not just a mentor, more a friend.
As 30 silver hits the floor
The sky above is like a door.
Call me a traitor, her a whore.
time will tell. We were much more.
Now as I leave this life behind.
Did I die to save a lie?
I loved you more than all I know.

I now know to see beyond the misery the things that I will see until my dying day.
Time will tell betrayal is a point view, it differs just like me and you. And that truth is but a word.