

Project 86, Rte. 66

So long
Wandering without you
Wondering about you
And drifting so far
So far stalking the darkness
Dreaming about this life I forgot

The desert lands
Have turned to sand once again
Without your love

So far away
From all that reminds me of you
So far away
I find myself here all alone

So long
Haunting in anger
Waving my finger to all who are gone
So far
Searching the moonlight
Wishing that I might change what I've done

Hold me now
Here somehow
This desperate sound
Will become one

To take away
All that divides me from you
And take away
These memories that drive me alone

Here I am
Destitute, yet resolute
These desert sands
Purging me
Reminds me of where I'm alone

To take away
All that divides me from you
And take away
These memories that drive me alone

So long
Wandering without you
Wondering about you
I'm so alone