

Projecto, Pantomine

The curtain rises the show has begun
It's crimson velvet covers your sun
That's not a fiction it is the real life
It's time you change it

It's time you try to rely on yourself
So start to reason with your clever mind
Don't let doom rule you
You've got the power
To be independent

Life is a pantomime
What's false and what is true?
Life is a pantomime
How can I trust you?

And never lose all your trust in the world
There should be someone who cares for you
He is a treasure he is a real friend
So never leave him