

Propaganda, No Return

You think I'm strong enough to forgive you
You think I'm able to forget all the lies
Well, I am sorry to disappoint you
I'm not made that way

You think I am still keen to continue
To doubt my own judgement, blow after blow
Well, I am happy to inform you
I'm not going to

You think I am still keen to continue
To doubt my own judgement, blow after blow
Well, I am happy to inform you
I'm not going to

No more hurt
No more
No more hurt
No more
No more
No more
No more

If you think I don't need a little attention
You think my heart is made of stone
Well, I would like to point out just one thing
I am human, too

If you act so brave, how come you could never
Look at me straight and tell me the truth
What does it matter, perhaps I am better
Off without you

How can you stop a fire that's raging
How can you win a battle that's lost
What if my mind is made up already
What chance have you got

How come you can't finish off what you've started
How come you move on and you don't let me know
Well, I am sure I deserve better
Don't you think so too

No more hurt
No more
No more hurt
No more
No more
No more
No more hurt

No more
No more hurt
No more
No more hurt
No more
No more hurt
No more
No more hurt
No more
No more hurt