

Propagandi, A Public Dis - Service Announcement

(“clear thinking in troubled times”: winnipeg free press, nov 21st, 1995) “people have the right to clear thinking. slogans, boycotts and protests don't do anything. the oil would certainly continue flowing. the business would continue operating. the vast majority of the world's population would be unaffected. the environmental investment, and the tens of millions of dollars spent on community programs are a waste of money.”

Enough to sit in your comfortable homes in the west, calling for sanctions and boycotts against a developing nation. Some campaigning groups say that we should intervene in the political process in developing nations. but even if we could, we must never do so. The influence of the west to prop up or bring down governments would be a frightening and bleak one indeed."