

Psychotic Waltz, Butterfly

i the watchful eye
i am the butterfly
you know you never heard me screaming i am the question why

i am the butterfly
mister mojo can you hear me screaming hey jude you look just like your daddy i know how it feels it makes me sad he won't sing to me anymore if you and me shake them do you think we could wake them do you think we could try for most of my life i never could thank them for the purple hazed experience of the electric lady's voodoo child yes they were bold as love just ask the axis

get me through these tired day get me through i've seen really nothing that your really threw away i just see it as if you've gone all the way with it gone all the way with it as if to die

so that you may really live on forever so fly, fly on my little heartbreak i'm gonna catch the falling feathers from your wing ah yes fly on my little heartbreak now i am the acid king do you think they could look down and see me now do you think they would dig the way i sound do you think they'd even care i am forever i

i am the butterfly
close to the ground brings no further the sky i am forever
close to the ground brings no further the sky
i am forever
close to the ground brings no further the sky
i am the butterfly