

Psycore, My Life

the soul
inside
you can't erase
out loud
i'll claim
my place
in space

solitude can be a warm embrace in the minus degrees called the human race some people have a tendency to abuse and distract and annoy me i never cease to be amazed by the stupidity that people insist on dumping on me don't like to be dressed up in feathers and tar i'll say, life looks better from far away

leave my life alone
let me live my life
live it the way i like
leave my life alone

i will never be what you want me to be i will never do what you want me to do i will never say what you'd like me to say your game i'll never play i'll go my way i'll challenge the world to a game of minding one's own business so consider your hobby to harras me unprovoked hereby revoked forever

my moon
my sun
my time
will come
some day
i'll say
my life
my way