

Psycore, Part Me, Part Machinery

it's so easy to get sucked in into the machinery
so many "helpful hands"; who knows what you want to be what you don't want to be is so easy to become like the father letting you down growing up as his son to get trapped in the bullshit is easily done
in the corporate circus you forget to have fun
it's so much business
not enough art
too many cold calculations not enough heart

caught in the trap

you enjoy the glitter and the teen-attention some day you're the bitter one they forgot to mention got to squeeze the juice before the fruit is rotten before the freak is old news before you're forgotten
with one foot in heaven
and one caught in the trap always out of balance
trying to live in the gap
trying to live in the gap
trying to live in the gap
with one foot in heaven
and one caught in the trap

a part of me is part of a machinery