

Punchline, Heart Attack

You told me to turn the other
Well I did, I thought it was ok
Now I hear that you're never coming back
And I'm about to have a heart attack

Medication won't work this time
I'll just sit here singing this rhyme
You're never coming back
And I'll have a heart attack
How could you do this to me

Despite my pain
I got in my car
Had just enough strength to make it to the ER
I was long gone when you heard about my death
"Thanks for the memories" is what I said with my last breath

Medication won't work this time
I'll just sit here singing this rhyme
You're never coming back
And I'll have a heart attack
How could you do this to me
