

Puressence, Let It All Go

When I was young my father said,
Just close your eyes and I'll be there,
You shrink my soul, you shrink my soul,
And then he'd say, I won't be home,

So let it all go,
Just let it all go,
How then?

I never meant to ask you out,
I never need to read your mind,
But you shrink my soul,
You shrink my soul,
And then you say, I've always known,

So let it all go,
Because we all know,
Can you tell?
Oh yeah

Well let me take this opportunity,
I'll try and make amends,
Oh well I feel there's nothing left to say,
Oh tell me, tell me, tell