

Pursuit Of Happiness, She's So Young

As much as she'd like to believe
She's leading a brand new wave
That uniform that she wears
I see on the street every day
She looks heavenward
And struggles to find the right cliché
You've got to find your own space
Have a nice day

She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question herself like I do
Like I do
She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question the world like I do
Like I do

Like the wisdom of ages
Will flow from her tongue
This is the
Delusion of the young
She says she'll lead with her heart
But her heart really doesn't know at all
I'll get no satisfaction
Out of seeing her fall

She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question herself like I do
Like I do
She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question her life like I do
Like I do

She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question herself like I do
Like I do
She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question the world like I do
Like I do

She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question herself like I do
Like I do
She's so young, she's got the answer
She doesn't need to question the world like I do
Like I do
