

Ra Ra, I Believe

On my side

I Believe

I'm doing all I can to separate your hate from me

It always seems to be the way you look at me

That gives it all away

□

No one around you cares about you or your sacred ways

They only see a sacred fist they only see a bomb today

Chorus

I believe in a world that can take you high/

In a place where patience can prevail

I believe in a thought that can set you free/

And the seeds of hatred always fail

In your mind you can't forget what evil had done to you

It leaves in what you say or do and dictates your reality

But your soul is clean, disinfected by your innocence

And while it makes no sense, you pursue a slave's insanity

I believe in a world that can take you high/

In a sky where sunshine breaks the clouds

I believe in a thought that can set you free/

In a mind that hears its heart beat loud

But you won't let go because you're always right

And you won't say no so you die tonight

Chorus

I believe in a world that can take you high/

In a sky where sunshine breaks the clouds

I believe in a thought that can set you free/

In a mind that hears its heart beat loud