

Rab McLean, Slipping Sideway

I was just watching my life's cascade
And feeling like I was a bit homemade
Sit down and tell me a secret bout your life
I'd gotten to thinking I was going insane
And you turned and you said you felt the same
You called it slipping sideways through your life.

Who's slipping sideways?
Who's slipping sideways?

My life strolled in and it sat down beside me
And said to my face it remembered kindly
It came rushing in
I cannot stand this mess I've got myself in
You held me up to the light
And you could see right through me
Like no one had ever knew me
To slip sideways through my life

Who's slipping sideways?
Who's slipping sideways?
Who's slipping sideways?
