

Rachael Yamagata, Brown Eyes

Brown eyes will you wait for me to follow
Im used to letting everybody down
Ive seen your face in our shadow
Does it look as pretty in the light

Will you save me from myself
Will I save you from the rest
Oh, brown eyes
Save a little something for me too

Full moon is there wisdom in your tide play
The cold is come and now
The love throwing everybody off
Sleep just doesnt taste the same
Ill be waiting till were side by side once again

Old love, how I wish we were an old love
Ive survived all this and more
Oh, youre turning everything to dust
And the wind is picking up
Oh, brown eyes
Save a little something for me too
